

PRODUCT OVERVIEW

eDocWiz - Automated Classification, Data Processing, & Redaction

Automatically transform your information from all enterprise assets into one cohesive, secure, instantly accessible, electronic information repository eDocWiz's advanced capabilities automatically transform your information and data from all enterprise assets into a cohesive, accurate, secure, instantly accessible, and searchable electronic information repository. The eDocWiz system provides a unique knowledge-based software service that enables enterprises to automate a wide range of information and administrative processing functions.

The Power of a Knowledge-Based Information Management Solution

eDocWiz automates, supports, and enables critical enterprise information management procedures that, in turn, facilitates decision making. By utilizing the powerful dynamic resources of the eDocWiz knowledge-based system, your organization will experience major benefits in productivity and work efficiency by automating tedious and often daunting enterprise information tasks.

Automated Classification, Data Extraction, & Redaction

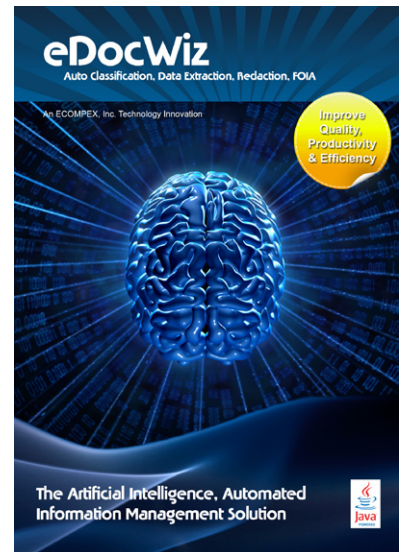

eDocWiz's auto classification, indexing, data extraction, and redaction services help corporations and governmental entities rediscover and harness the benefits of the information they already possess. eDocWiz supports a wide range of information formats including:

- Electronic and non-electronic file types
- Information from databases, electronic forms, and e-mail/webmail
- Structured and unstructured information
- Current, legacy, intra-enterprise, and inter-enterprise information
- Legal, administrative, technical, formal, and informal information and data eDocWiz has been intelligently designed with Java technology and Web services architecture - which allows for easy, effortless integration of the system with an organization's current business flow. Because eDocWiz was developed with pure Java technology, it is completely secure and platform independent. eDocWiz works on TIFF, PDF, e-mail, Word, and other electronic file formats, including the U.S. Air Force's file formats.

Government and Industry Applications

This revolutionary knowledge management system has many practical applications for providing automated, structured information in an age where information is quickly and promptly needed. eDocWiz can easily and automatically classify, sort, and redact nearly all information requests received daily by Government agencies as well as healthcare, financial, legal, and other major industries.

- Concept Search & Retrieval
- Automated Metadata Extraction
- Intelligence Analysis
- Structured & Unstructured Information
- Intelligence Extraction for Decision Making
- Service-Oriented Architecture (SOA)
- Auto FOIA
- Automated Enterprise Information Management